

PRESS RELEASE

EPS WELCOMES FLOWMECH TO EXPANDING GROUP

EPS Group has further expanded its presence in the UK with the acquisition of Flowmech, the Leicester based water, wastewater and pumping specialists. The acquisition represents the latest strategic move by EPS Group to enhance its footprint in the UK, expanding its product portfolio and service capabilities.

Headquartered in Cork, Ireland, EPS Group, continues to strengthen its presence in the UK, broadening the market for its water and wastewater treatment, pumping and renewable energy system solutions.

Flowmech has been manufacturing, distributing, maintaining and servicing quality products since 1992 and their expertise in cold water booster sets, pressurisation units and bespoke pumping solutions, makes them a natural fit for EPS Group's growing footprint.

Patrick Buckley, Managing Director of EPS Group, says, "By bringing Flowmech into our family, we are reinforcing our commitment to delivering innovative, sustainable solutions to our customers across the UK and Ireland. Flowmech's reputation for quality and reliability perfectly aligns with EPS Group's values and we are confident this partnership will drive continued growth and innovation in our sector."

Mr Buckley can clearly see the synergies and opportunities that exist between both companies. "Flowmech's expertise in manufacturing bespoke solutions for their customers in the building services and built environment space perfectly complements our existing range of activities and we look forward to strengthening and enhancing those capabilities to provide Flowmech's customer base with an even more comprehensive offering".

Ian Craft, Managing Director of Flowmech, says, "After 31 successful years developing our distributed product and in-house manufactured product range and building a strong customer base, we are looking forward to a new chapter in our company's story as part of EPS Group. We firmly believe that this move will open up new opportunities for Flowmech and our team and we are excited about what the future holds as we collaborate to bring new solutions to our customers."

Co-founder Steve Piggin will continue with the business on a part time basis and says, "I am very pleased with this new partnership and all it offers and I look forward to continuing to contribute to the development of Flowmech in the future".
